Useful links for writers

This is a work in progress and will be updated after each issue of the Mensa Professional Writers Sig. Feel free to share. The latest version will always be at <https://dhhbolton.com/links.pdf>

Useful Tools

Code Compare- A free application for Windows that shows the differences between two text files.

Programmer's Notepad. A free text editor for Windows. It includes a word count.

Jutoh. A paid for program (about £35) that runs on Windows, Mac and Linux that creates eBooks in .mobi or .epub.

FreeFileSync. A free utility that runs on Windows, Mac or Linux. It simplifies backing up files by doing a sync between two folders, only copying the differences.

Calibre. Manage eBooks on Windows, Linux or Mac with this open source program. It lets you convert eBook files between different formats and copy on/off devices.

FileZilla. Useful utility for copying files between computers and servers.

Free and Open-Source image editors list. On Wikipedia.

Snagit and Camtasia. These are commercial screen grab and video recording and editing software.

Hired Services

Fiveerr. An American site that provides services like Business copywriting, Articles & Blog posts ,Proofreading & Editing, Graphics, Book Covers, CVs & Cover letters , Creative writing ,Translation, Transcription, Press releases and Language translation.

Five squid A British site like Fiveerr.

Anyone can buy services from these sites or sign up and offer services.

Backup Services

Dropbox. Costing around £8 a month this gives you 2 TB (Terabytes) of remote storage. Just copy files into a Dropbox and they get whisked away. Handy for syncing data between computers on a network and also lets you easily produce download links for files too big to email.

BackBlaze. Cheaper than Dropbox ($7 a month) and provides unlimited storage.

Writing Jobs

<https://becomeawritertoday.com/writing-jobs/> - This has 21 links to websites offering writing gigs and jobs. It gives pros and cons for each site.

<https://uk.indeed.com/Remote-Writer-jobs>—a normal job search site with adverts for remote writing jobs. The last couple of years has seen a big growth in remote job opportunities. If you see any job or job search site that asks for money, please ignore it.

<https://hotghostwriter.com/pages/fiction-writing-job>— HotGhostWriter is hiring remote freelance ebook writers who would like to keep their calendar full of exciting fiction writing projects.

ProBlogger. An Australian website but the writing jobs are all over and many are freelance or remote. Typically, 80-100 jobs on offer though some especially for blogs seem to be a race to the bottom in rates e.g. $0.03 a word is typical.

FreedomWithWriting. This offers a very wide range of writing opportunities. You can sign up to a free email.

Other Services

Perlego – Access a vast library of non-fiction books. Costs £9 a month. Read online or on a smartphone app.

Interesting Websites related to Writing

Common misconceptions about publishing. This is a set of articles by the science fiction author Charles Stross. It provides a lot of insight in to the physical book industry. All of it was written before eBooks were really a big thing.

TV Tropes. This is a fabulous resource that cuts a path through pop culture. If you like writing, gaming, film, art, animation, print media, comic books, tv, theatre and even wrestling you'll like this. Warning, it's a very wide and deep rabbit hole.

Ingermanson.com. By the author of the Snowflake method eBook. Created a free Fiction newsletter that you can sign up to.

Advanced Fiction Writing. A website about writing. Also links to an e-zine with 16 years of monthly archives.

Pricing your work. By a British online seller of paper, envelopes etc.

Greeting Cards on Etsy. Etsy is the market leader in online marketplaces where anyone can sell craft items. This link goes to greeting cards. Change the search to funny greeting cards to see funnies.

Reedsy 10 Day Email Courses – Free courses that last ten days. Each day during a course you receive an email that's roughly an A4 document in size on the particular topic. Courses cover Design (One course), Distribution (2 courses), Editing (5 Courses), Marketing (16 courses), Publishing (11 courses) and of course Writing (18 courses).

Writing Subreddit. A community of 2.5 million writers etc. Completely free to join and use. Warning, it can be a real timewasting rabbit hole!
